“ I have known this family since 1972 when I began teaching at Chippewa Valley High School with Angela Buffa's daughter, Marie. i always felt welcome and valued in this large and loving family. When there were no more children at home, this talented and generous lady began teaching her skills via community ed and adult ed classes in various culinary arts. Another friend and I took several of her classes and enjoyed her humorous patter and helpful cooking and baking tips. Thanks to her, I was able to impress my family and friends with dozens of tasty puff pastry goodies that I shrugged off as "Oh, just something I whipped up..." Of course, I took all the credit for "my" culinary miracles and acted appropriately modest when the compliments rolled in, but in my heart I silently thanked this talented woman whose legacy was to share and give and love hugely.
