“ A Memory of My Dad

My dad wasn't just my father. he was my strength, my protector, and my best friend. No matter what life threw at him, he kept fighting with everything he had. Even through pain and struggles, he still showed up for us, still loved us loudly, and still made sure we knew we mattered.

He had a way of making people feel safe, of making us laugh even on hard days, and of reminding us to keep going no matter what. The bond we shared is something I will carry with me forever, from the everyday conversations, to the jokes, to just knowing he was always there.

Watching him fight so hard showed me what real strength looks like. And even though my heart hurts more than words can explain, I find comfort knowing he's no longer in pain.

Dad, thank you for everything you gave us! for your love, your lessons, your strength. I will miss you every single day, but I will keep your memory alive in everything I do.

I love you always and forever!!
