“ I remember when the men left on a hunting trip. Janet came over to replace all the lights switch plates and outlets to a different color. Janet was never afraid to tackle an electrical job By the time she was finished, I think when you turned on the light in the bedroom, the fan in the living room turned on instead. But they looked really good.❤️

“ While back Janet came to live with me. Early morning she would have coffee, always outside. My weeds in the flower beds would call her, and before you knew it, she was on her knees pulling weeds. That yr my flowers looked thier best. I learned how to do so many things from you. RIP. ❤️

“ One of my first dinners at Janet's house, was when I was dating Mark. She served boil cabbage, with milk and butter on it. I was not a fan of boiled cabbage. And I've never had it that way. Janet told me to try just a little. I did, it was delicious!! I've had many of her dinners since then. I don't think there was ever a time I didn't like one. She was a great cook. 💕💕

“ Janet was a huge part of my childhood. There will never be a day where I don't remember spending countless hours with her and having fun. We might have not been related by blood, but she'll always be like a grandmother to me.

“ I first got to know Janet in our women's bible study at IC. It was an amazing experience, and while Janet's fun loving, humorous side was always present, there were profound moments of discovery and growth in faith that Janet called "lightbulb" moments. Rest in our Savior's loving arms Janet. I will always treasure our time with The Morning Glories. Donna Kiehl

“ I met Janet in 1974 when I started dating her oldest son Mark. For my senior prom I bought a dress . Of course it was too big and Mark said his mom would fix it. I had no idea she could even sew. I brought it to her ,I tried it on and with a pinch here and a pinch there and she was ready to sew. The next fitting the dress was in pieces I was in a panic. By the time she was done altering this dress it looked as if it was made for me .Since that moment on she had Sewn several dresses not only for me but for my daughter her first granddaughter, Abigail. Through the years she had taught me to sew. Now when I sit at my sewing machine which was hers I will think of her. And wish she was sitting beside me. I will miss Janet my mother-in-law dearly! Love you lots
