“ I just figure out how to make a message on here, I may be late, but I still miss you. I remember when I had no friends and you were the one who showed up. We talked for months and I sat at your table, finally finding joy after losing everyone I cared about, I'll never stop regretting leaving that table for new people. A year after I left, you passed on. I don't think I could ever appreciate someone as much as I appreciated you, you stay in my memories forever, I'm proud of you.

“Tj was such a spark of light in my classroom in 5th grade. He made me laugh daily and was always laughing at my stick figure art. Whenever I needed something artistic done he was the student I asked to do it. He decorated the classroom door for March is reading month after I tried to draw a coffee cup and failed miserably. He was always kind and considerate and cared so much. My heart breaks for your family and the friends I know cherished you. Continued love and support- Mrs. Thompson
